One team. One journey. Together.

They served side by side. They came home side by side. Now they need help carrying it, side by side.

WHAT HAPPENED

They fought together.
They came home carrying it.

- 49 of the unit's soldiers have fallen since October 7, 2023, from its top command to its youngest fighters.
- Dozens were wounded. Some are still in rehabilitation.
- Whole teams evacuated their wounded friends, then came home.
- Tens of thousands of reserve-duty days, away from home, family and work.

WHY NOW

Often, it surfaces months later.

Back in everyday life, combat experiences return. The fighting may pause; the need does not. The hardest part is still ahead.

WHY US

Someone who knows them reaches out first.

The state does a great deal, but help only works if a veteran walks in, and many never go looking. We know our alumni face to face. We notice, reach out first, and stay with them until they reach the right help.

> Sometimes, to accept help, you need someone who knows you to reach out.

THE TEAM JOURNEY

15 to 20 fighters.
One team. One journey.

A team that served together goes on a journey with mental health professionals, shaped around its needs: room to process, grow stronger and keep going together.

58 teams completed a journey in 2025 and 2026.
